Also, case law (examining a multitude of factors) can recharacterise debt as equity, thereby eliminating the interest deduction and possibly imposing dividend withholding tax  In addition, regulations under Section 385 could cause certain related party debt instruments to be treated as equity either due to (i) failure to satisfy documentation requirements or (ii) the debt being deemed to have funded a distribution (subject to various exceptions)  If over 1.5:1, in general, interest paid to related parties is not deductible to the extent net interest expense exceeds 50% of adjusted taxable income (roughly EBITDA)
- third party debt	No statutory rules, in practice 3:1 to 4:1 (taking into account third party debt)	5:1 on loans to intra-group companies	1.5:1 or 25% of operating income before tax and amortisation or if interest income received exceed interest paid. Interest paid under loans granted by "related parties" are not deductible if they are not subject (for the lender) to corporate tax rate at least equal to 25% of French corporate tax rate	-	-	Arm's length requirement for the level of interest charged. Debt-to-equity ratio of 85:15 upheld in practice in respect of Luxembourg resident holding companies owning participations qualifying for the participation exemption regime	Arm's length requirement for interest payable on loans between related parties; in case of back-to-back finance activities the holding company should be actually exposed to minimum risks (equity should cover ≥ 1% of the loans outstanding or EUR 2m)	-	-	-	-
- third party debt	-	5:1 on loans to companies located in a tax haven	No, unless third party debt is guaranteed by related parties	-	-	No, unless shareholder guarantee	As stated above: 13l and 15ad	-	≤ 70% debt along with maximum interest rate	-	-
